3. Goal(s):

Family wants CHILD to request what he wants, especially around food, being hungry, and what he wants to eat. Outcome is met when CHILD uses a word/sign consistently (or consistently points to a picture) to communicate what he wants to eat/drink. We'll know the outcome is met when CHILD does this at least 1x per day.

Family wants CHILD to be able to move on from an activity after he becomes "fixated" on it and repeats it over and over. Outcome is met if by Thanksgiving CHILD can emotionally self-regulate after an activity he's "fixated" on. We'll know the outcome is achieved when tantrums have decreased and/or length of tantrum has decreased.

Family wants CHILD to imitate more and follow directions that are verbally spoken to him. Outcome is met if by Summer 2026 CHILD imitates actions and verbalization consistently. CHILD will imitate a play action and/or verbalization 3 out of 5 opportunities. We'll know the outcome is met when CHILD imitates action with a toy; he'll do this at least once per play time.

4. Subjective - Updates from Family, Notes about Client's Demeanor

SLP met with CHILD and parents virtually in the home setting. CHILD was present and calm.

Weekly Updates:

This week parents attended a waitlist meeting for the Children's Hospital ASD Eval.

Parents report CHILD has been sleeping in more but he has been up at night some of the time. He's drinking less throughout the day and going to the bathroom less. He is showing more mood swings. He will laugh and then cry. Or he'll wake up in a bad mood and then be happy. CHILD used to take awhile to change states and now he's changing his moods more quickly. CHILD has also improved his ability to go down the stairs at home, independently.

Follow up Strategies from last week:

The couch lapping game with stickers - CHILD is enjoying this with mom. He is stopping the activity before he has to be done if his parents give him a warning (i.e. 3 more and then we're done!)

5. Objective - Session Plan, Outcome(s) and Data

Today's plan: practicing transitions with a song or chant.

Clinical observations - CHILD responded to the adults verbally saying "pause" by stopping and looking to the TV. Parents also report CHILD is responding to phrases from songs when his parents speak parts of songs (i.e. out came the sun). CHILD attended to the "time for....." chant: 2x

CHILD is pretending to cook with bowls and spoons

He is trying to say "oo" for WOO.

6. Assessment - Observations, Reflections, and Progress toward IFSP goal(s)

CHILD is learning to modulate his vocalizations. Because it is new, he may start with an "oo" and then it goes to a screech.

MOC is noticing that things can feel stagnant in the day to day so she appreciates the feedback about specific skills that are new.

CHILD is now wanting to play more in his parents laps. This feels positive for everyone.

Using a consistent and rhythmic chant supported CHILD'S attention to the transition chant.

CHILD will benefit from continued therapy to support joint intention and shared affect as foundational building blocks for language.

7. Plan - Recommendations and Strategies

Try a stirring task: set up 3-4 bowls with a spoon, practice picking it up and stirring it and putting it in all done.

Try the transition chant: (with patting your knees): it's time for X, time for X, soon it will be time for X. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5,6 7, 8, 9, 10, time for X!

Discuss as a family if you are interested in pursuing AAC support.
